(REV. 2/11)

SCENE #2

INT. OFFICE - LATER

Travis sits in the conference room, reading the book. He sees Rebecca enter and sit at her desk. He crosses to her.

TRAVIS

So it was a bummer you didn't show up last night.

(REBECCA)

I know. A client wanted to hit a happy hour and then when it was over, I figured it was too late.

TRAVIS

Just because I'm happy to help you out doesn't mean you should take advantage. My time is valuable and I matter, for a lot of reasons I just wrote down in this notebook.

Rebecca is a little cowed by this new version of Travis.

(REBECCA)

You're right. I'm sorry.

TRAVIS

Thanks.

He starts to cross off, but Rebecca continues.

(REBECCA)

Travis, I'm a really driven person. When I was ten I dressed up as Suzi Orman for Halloween and trick-or-treated by myself because the other kids were slowing me down. I've got two hundred grand in student debt and still plan on having a million in the bank by the time I'm thirty. I can't get distracted by the nice guy at work.

TRAVIS

I'm not the nice guy.

(REBECCA)

Did you see Cats because you felt bad for the actors?

TRAVIS

They just--

(REBECCA)

Probably worked really hard on it.
I know. You're the nice guy.
